TABLETOP EXERCISES

Review of Incident Response Plan

Tabletop exercises are crucial in determining, whether incident response (IR) plan is working and whether it contains all elements necessary for successful IR and incident handling. Before testing your IR plan by performing tabletop exercises, we recommend performing a review of the plan to find out any possible weak spots. In addition, there are legal, contractual, regulatory and normative requirements for IR plan that may be applicable.

Description

LIFARS will review the following:

- Legal, contractual, regulatory and normative requirements fulfillment
- Overview, scope, exclusions, objectives
- IR Team roles and responsibilities
- Incident notification procedure, escalation procedures and declaration of disaster
- Incident response procedures and checklists

Prerequisites:

- Existing IR Plan and IR Procedures

Company's Role and Responsibilities:

- Provide list of legal, contractual, regulatory and normative requirements
- Provide Existing IR Plan and IR Procedures
- Implement improvements and test improved IR Plan

Deliverable:

Our staff performs with military style speed, precision, and expertise. Results matter, and your reputation is as valued as ours.

The LIFARS New York Laboratory is an industry pioneer in developing methodologies to identify indicators of compromise and threat actors (including those backed by nation states). LIFARS has investigated and responded to all types of cyber threats from intellectual property theft, extortion, hacking of celebrity social media accounts, money transfer, as well as serious breach attacks and sabotage from nation states.

LIFARS services are geographically unrestricted via offices in North America, Europe, and Asia.

OUR HISTORY

LIFARS was founded in 2012 by Ondrej Krehel. Mr. Krehel developed the LIFARS proprietary forensics methodology over a span of 20 years, while leading and working on high-profile cybersecurity engagements around the world. Our forensics' experts have experience which derives directly and indirectly from working with US Intelligence Agencies, Interpol, Europol, and NATO. We have remediated several complex high-profile cases that have stirred intense media attention. Our strategy of proactive and reactive engagement often requires cooperation within the intelligence community including, the FBI, CIA, and NSA. Today, LIFARS is proud to be known as a leader in Digital Forensics and Cyber Resiliency Services.
